a glimpse into the past...

Step back into the past as you visit this amazing display of historical artifacts from Early Americans. With numerous artifacts from various periods in history, this is one of the most impressive collections in the State of Texas.

Items date from the Paleo-Indian period of about 10,000 years ago to the late-historic and historic periods of about 300 years ago. Items range from projectile point fragments which were part of weapons used to hunt larger animals such as Ice Age mammals and bison. Other items include pottery from the late-historic period. This display is truly a lesson in history. Make plans to visit this collection today.
